

Artist-Writer in Residence Program Great Basin National Park 2011 Guidelines and Information

Great Basin National Park has created the Darwin Lambert Artist-Writer in Residence Program in honor of the late Darwin Lambert. As a proponent for the creation of Great Basin National Park and other parks, Lambert authored Great Basin Drama and other literary pieces.

This program offers artists and writers the opportunity to live and work in Great Basin National Park. The park will offer a two to four week residency in September and October.

Basic housing is provided, but no other stipend is offered. As part of the program artists and writers will be required to do one public program in which the artist-writer will describe their work and their medium in relation to the park and its natural and cultural resources. Artists and writers must also donate one original piece of their work to the park's permanent museum collection.

Great Basin National Park is in a very remote location. While there are limited amenities in Baker which include a small grocery store, 3 restaurants, and 2 gasoline stations, the closest larger community is Ely, about 70 miles from the park.

Residents will have no phone or internet access at the park except in case of emergency. Local businesses in Baker offer wireless internet connection and cell phone reception is available only in the vicinity of the Border Inn at the Nevada/Utah state line, 13 miles from Great Basin National Park.
